Hello Eagle families! It has been too long since we have put together a school newsletter. This one is packed with lots of handy links and tools.

If you have stopped by the school you might have noticed some of our signage. We've opened a window that makes walk-up service a breeze.

Although our office is staffed the school campus is officially closed to the public. That means no entering school buildings or school grounds. If you come to pick up library books or materials it is important to wear a mask, maintain social distance and to follow signage and directional flow arrows.

To keep up to date with the District's plans for re-opening visit the COVID-19 website and read the superintendents weekly Family Communications.

Do you have any questions on how to use ParentSquare? Maybe you want to make changes to your notifications settings or send an attendance message? You can find help for these and many other topics here.

Mrs. Widdows our librarian is available for tech help or book recommendations during Wednesday Office Hours from 1 - 2:00 p.m.

Distance Learning Attendance.

Just like when we have in-person instruction punctuality matters. If your student is having difficulty connecting via Zoom we need to know. Parents please call or message the school office each morning this occurs. We also need to be notified of illness, doctor appointments or any other reason your student does not attend school.

Video library for tech help and more...

Number 1 tip for chromebook maintenance is keep food and drinks at least 10 feet away. But in case you already knew that one here are a few more helpful tips:
